

Contents

Introduction by Peter Gillgren, Merit Laine & Mårten Snickare	7
---	---

I SITES

1. Power, knowledge, and taste in the collections of Queen Christina	13
2. The library as a site for the collection and display of scientific instruments	33
3. The cabinet of physics at Riddarhuset in Stockholm	49
4. Three centuries of science and culture at the Stockholm Observatory	65

II REPRESENTATIONS

5. Astronomical books as works of art	83
6. The display of scientific instruments in astronomical frontispieces	99
7. Hercules as an astronomer	113
8. Royal constellations at Drottningholm Palace	125

III RECEPTION

9. Is this orrery a work of art?	137
10. A material turn in the study of early modern scientific heritage	161

The contributors	172
Inga Elmquist Söderlund's publications	173
References	175
Index	189
Image sources	192